

Join us Oct. 5 for World United Against Bullying: A Day of Action

In a multinational study across 83 countries, 30.5% of adolescents reported being bullied. Bullying isn't just a discipline issue—it's a public health concern.

Join educators, community leaders and advocates on World Bullying Prevention Day, Oct. 5, to:

- Raise awareness of the importance of bullying prevention.
- Discover proven strategies to reduce bullying from leading experts.
- Connect with your peers who want to make bullying prevention a priority.
- Take action to improve your school climate and create safer schools and communities.

World United Against Bullying A Day of Action

bit.ly/BP-Action-Day

Virtual Event | Oct. 5
10:00 AM - 4:00 PM ET

#WorldUnitedAgainstBullying

<https://www.centerforsafeschools.org/bullying-prevention/october-is-bullying-prevention-month/>